

THE ZAGROS MOUSTERIAN

Harold L. Dibble

This paper deals with Middle Paleolithic sites found in the Zagros region of the Near East based on the study of existing collections of Mousterian material, focusing on the sites of Warwasi and Bisitun, and provides comparisons between them and other Zagros Mousterian assemblages for which data have been published or are otherwise available. Data on the newly coined "Zagros Aurignacian" are also presented.
